Members of the Code4Lib Community:

OhioLINK is pleased to support the Code4Lib community by co-hosting the 2009 meeting in Columbus, Ohio. At a time when libraries are coping with vast quantities of information and seeking to engage users with tools to effectively use that information, we recognize the value of the Code4Lib community with its history of creative thinking and open sharing of ideas, techniques, and tools. I am confident that central Ohio can meet your expectations of a meeting site to support the face-to-face execution of those valuable attributes.

In partnership with the Columbus Metropolitan Library, OCLC, and Ohio State University, we're looking forward to welcoming you to Code4Lib 2009 next year.

Sincerely,
